Masked & Merciless

Masked and merciless. Those two words are the only ones that matter in today's trial. Those are the two words that describe the defendant's attack at Miller Tower on Halloween. How he wore a mask to rob the vault, and mercilessly attacked a security guard, leaving her with life threatening injuries. Masked and merciless.

It all happened on October 31st, 2022. Millions of dollars in precious art were stolen from the Sohi Children's Hospital Gala by a crew of masked criminals. They entered through the rooftop door and made their way to the command center where they ran into a Miller Tower security guard. In one punch, the defendant knocked her out cold. They then dragged her body down the hall to the vault, where they used her hand and eye to pass biometric scans and then threw her unconscious body into the vault while they gathered up their treasure. But then something happened that the defendant didn't expect. That security guard woke up. And the defendant sprung into action. Punching her in the back of the head over and over and over until finally grabbing her head and slamming it into the concrete floor of the vault.
